

Today I'm writing about WWOOFing!
I hope I will live this adventure very soon.

PARCOURS AVENIR

WWOOFing

At the moment I'm in 9th grade: so, I will graduate from high school in 3 years. Then I hope I can go to college! But before going to college, do you know what I'd love to do? I'd love to go... WWOOFing!!

Have you heard about WWOOFing? It's just awesome! It's like an international network that allows you to travel for free! This is how it works: there's an international network of farms (organic farms) and you can travel from one farm to the other. When you arrive in a farm, you can stay there and work for some time on the farm. You don't have to pay for the stay or for the food, because it is an exchange of knowledge and passion, not an exchange of money.

The real name is "WWOOFing" with 2 W's, because it stands for "World Wide Opportunities on Organic Farms". Anyway, I'm seriously thinking of becoming a "WWOOFER" in a few years and go and see the world!! I might go to Australia... or New Zealand... or...

Other Posts:

- An Exchange Student
- Irish Music
- An Engaged Artist
- Dorothea Lange
- Women in Space
- Aboriginal Art
- A Midsummer Night's Dream

Contributors:

Hannah

Conor

Ben

Padma

Grace

WWOOFers and their hosts in Nigeria

YOUR TURN!

- 1 Read the text and explain how WWOOFing works: who offers what?
- 2 Explain why Padma is interested in the program.
When and where does she want to go WWOOFing?
- 3 Do you know the difference between traditional and organic farms?
Would you be interested in participating in such a program?
Where would you like to go?

